Through Their Eyes

For many refugee youth, a so-called normal childhood is a distant dream. Hamdo, an 11-year-old Syrian boy, remembers a happy life in Idleb with a mother who devoted herself to her children. After a bomb destroyed their house, the entire family fled to Turkey. There they lived for a few years, trying to rebuild their life when tragedy struck again; Hamdo’s mother contracted breast cancer. The family did what they could to make her comfortable, but their house in Turkey was in need of repairs. Three years later, it claimed her life and left Hamdo and his teenage brothers heartbroken.

Hamdo knew his mother would want the best for him. He dedicated himself to his studies and has mastered the Turkish language – one of the biggest challenges for Syrians living in Turkey. Despite the sadness in his life, Hamdo still has a bright and wonderful smile for the world.

IOM has been supporting this family since the start of the year with multipurpose cash and in May provided a top-up to provide support during the month of Ramadan.

Common Services (Community Technology Access Centres)

Refugees continue to access the internet and technology resources through IOM's five CTA centres in the camps in Dohuk (Domiz camp) and Erbil (Basirma, Darashakran, Kawergosik, and Qushtapa camps). Each CTA centre consists of two caravans (one for males and another for females). Between 1 and 31 May, 2,578 beneficiaries (1,144 females and 1,434 males) benefited from CTA services in Erbil, and 252 beneficiaries (94 females and 158 males) in Dohuk.

Livelihood Opportunities for Syrian refugees, IDPs and host communities

During the reporting period, a total of 142 individuals (46 women and 96 men) attended basic greenhouse skills and pesticide safety training sessions conducted by IOM in Erbil, Sulaymaniyah and Dohuk. The training sessions were held in recently rehabilitated Ministry of Agriculture and Water Resources’ (MoAWR) training centres across the three governorates. The skills obtained from these trainings will enable Syrian refugees to learn basic agriculture skills and be able to produce crops that help their sustainable livelihoods.

Moreover, in May, an assessment mission was conducted in all sites across the three governorates by an agriculture expert to make recommendations for new training activities and additional crops that can be produced at each site based on the quality of soil and the market demand in each governorate.

Within the framework of the IOM – MoAWR MoU, IOM is providing livelihood opportunities for Syrian refugees, IDPs and host communities through a Cash-for-Work (CfW) programme at MoAWR’s nurseries floristries. While IOM provides these beneficiaries with daily wages and tools and uniforms, the Ministry is committed to train them in skills relevant to these tasks. In May, 45 male beneficiaries in Dohuk, Erbil and Sulaymaniyah participated in the CfW programme.
School Transportation in Azraq Camp

During the month of May, 7,671 of students were transported on a daily basis to schools in Azraq camp. The objective of the school transportation project is to improve access to formal education for refugees within Azraq camp; both students and Syrian assistant teachers are benefitting from the transportation service. As temperatures in Jordan begin to rise, this school transportation service becomes more necessary in order to ensure that children are transported safely to school. Throughout the project, IOM continues to conduct ad hoc registration and replacement of damaged cards for students who are interested in accessing this service.

IOM also engages Syrian volunteer escorts through a Cash-for-Work (CfW) programme who help to ensure that children are transported in a safe manner to and from school, mitigating protection risks. Through this project, up to 100 Syrian volunteer escorts will benefit from the CfW intervention, providing them with a much needed livelihood opportunity.

Trainings on Humanitarian Border Management and Counter-Trafficking for Border Authorities

Two five-day trainings on Humanitarian Border Management (HBM) and Counter Trafficking (CT) were implemented in May; the first was held from 7 to 11 May for 24 border authorities (BA) and the second was held from 14 to 18 May for 11 BAs. The objective of the trainings was to increase the knowledge of the BAs on HBM and CT.

The first three days focused on the Universal Declaration of Human Rights; international legal framework; and conventions related to the status and protection of refugees. The fourth day was delivered by three BAs who had received a previous ToT with IOM on HBM, focusing on humanitarian assistance provided to Syrian refugees and humanitarian principles during interactions with Syrian refugees.

On the fifth day, the last two sessions of the training were delivered by a CT trainer from the Jordanian Counter Trafficking Unit. The sessions focused on the definition of human trafficking, the different types of exploitations that refugees might be exposed to, and the difference between trafficking and smuggling.
